

Perfect Pitch

Perfect Pitch

More FIFA Recommended Pitches than anyone else

FieldTurf was the very first artificial surface to attain FIFA Recommended status due to its superior grass-like performance, which soccer players prefer. The surface was the first artificial pitch to host a UEFA Cup Qualifying Round and the first to host a FIFA Soccer Tournament. FieldTurf has passed the international governing body's most stringent testing and has more FIFA Recommended pitches than anyone else.

Luzhniki BSA Olympic Stadium, Russia

North American Pro Teams that have chosen FieldTurf

- Seattle Sounders
- Atlanta Silverbacks
- Rochester Rhinos
- New England Revolution
- Portland Timbers
- Boston Breakers
- Vancouver Whitecaps
- LA Galaxy
- Club Deportivo Saprissa
- Chivas Guadalajara
- US National Team
- Chivas USA
- Kansas City Wizards
- Chicago Fire
- Real Salt Lake
- Philadelphia Independence

Estadio Municipal de la Florida, Chile

College Programs that have chosen FieldTurf

- University of Maryland
- University of North Carolina
- University of Connecticut
- Duke University
- Harvard University
- St. John's University
- University of Cincinnati
- University of Richmond
- Fairleigh Dickinson University
- Drake University
- Marquette University
- Boston University
- Texas Tech University
- DePaul University
- Wake Forest University
- University of Wisconsin
- Syracuse University
- Seton Hall University
- Loyola University
- Cleveland State University
- University of Nevada - Reno
- University of Massachusetts
- Yale University
- Northwestern University
- Columbia University
- University of Louisville
- Princeton University
- Northern Kentucky University
- Adelphi University
- University of Delaware
- University of British Columbia
- University of Bridgeport

Northwestern University, USA

High Profile Matches on FieldTurf

- Champions League match - 2006
- Euro Qualifier - 2008
- MLS Cup Final - 2009
- MLS All-Star Game - 2008
- USL Championship Game - 2007
- Men's FIFA U20 World Cup Final - 2007
- Women's FIFA U20 World Cup Final - 2008
- CONCACAF Gold Cup - 2009
- UEFA Cup Qualifier - 2003
- World Cup Qualifiers - 2005, 2009
- NCAA D1 League Finals

Gillette Stadium, USA

3 Key Reasons Why FieldTurf is the Right Choice For Soccer

- (1) Energy Restitution
- (2) Ball Performance
- (3) Shock Absorption

Over 75% of all teams in the English Premier League, Spain's 'La Liga', and France's 'Ligue de Football Professionnel', train on FieldTurf and synthetic turf systems from the world leader in artificial turf.

Recent FieldTurf Feedback

Following are comments from those who have played or coached on FieldTurf.

"The field at Paetec Park was probably the best artificial surface that I have ever played on, and certainly the closest to real grass, especially when you consider the ball roll."

ALY WAGNER - US Women's National Soccer Team midfielder with more than 100 caps, referring to the Rochester Rhinos $40 million soccer specific stadium.

"I absolutely love FieldTurf. It's the perfect surface everytime out. I have experienced 100% rubber-filled surfaces and can say they are very soft. It's like playing in sand, and for a sport like soccer this kills your legs. We train and play on FieldTurf, and I wouldn't have it any other way. It's by far the best synthetic surface for soccer."

TERRI PATRAW - Former head coach for University of Nevada - Reno women's soccer program.

"Every Spring my team has a choice of training on natural grass or FieldTurf, and they choose FieldTurf every time. This is a true testament to the product."

ANSON DORRANCE - Head coach of the 20-time NCAA Division 1 reigning Champion UNC women's soccer team.

"I think visually it really looks a lot like grass, and especially when it was wet it played very similar to a real grass surface. Compared to other synthetic surfaces this is the best type of turf surface that I have played on."

STEVE SHAK - United Soccer League all-star defender and former MLS number-one draft pick.

"I have personally played on FieldTurf many times and can say from experience that FieldTurf surfaces allow the game to be decided based on skill and strategy, and not poor playing conditions. I have been involved with a few winning teams myself and I certainly look forward to continuing the improvement of field conditions on soccer pitches nationwide."

CHRISTINE SINCLAIR - Captain of the Canadian Women's National Soccer Team with more than 135 caps.

Perfect Pitch

Information

(800) 724-2969
info@fieldturf.com
www.fieldturf.com

THE ULTIMATE
SURFACE EXPERIENCE